THE MASTER OF A BIG OCEAN STEAMER IS NOT A PLUTOCRAT.

Everything Considered He Is Poorly Paid. False Stories Printed—Low Wages Given Other Officers For Onerous Duties—Farmer and Surgeon.

It is the general impression among those who do not know that the duties and responsibilities of the average skipper of a regular liner are as many and onerous as the successful bank president and that in addition his salary is just as large. The responsibility of the one is about as great as the other, but when it comes to dimes the sea dog has as a rule much more to bear, while, unlike the bank president, his salary is as small as his duties are large. It may surprise some of the regular transatlantic travelers to learn that their beautiful gold lace goes about the deck laughing and chatting with the tourists, patting the half fare tots on the back and doffing his cap to the rug clad occupants of an easy steamer chair between the time that he spends in his berth, in the chartroom or on the bridge, gets little more money a month than the detective sergeant or the average steamboat captain. In many instances Mr. Gold Lace gets less.

One of the most successful lines running between this port and Europe pays its commodore, who has been over 20 years in this particular service, $35 a month, or about $175. This is about $40 a week. The other captains in this line are paid the equivalent of $125 for 30 days' labor. Any number of matter of no fact stories have been printed with the object of showing that the commanders of the great liners received in some cases sums ranging from $7,000 to $12,000 per year. But such talk is idle. There is not a single captain on the ocean who enjoys such an income. That many of them deserve to is another matter entirely.

In an argument that master mariners are well paid the point is advanced that the officers are fed while at sea and even alongside the wharf with the best that the market affords and at the expense of the steamship company. Yet 80 per cent of these well fed gold laces are married and have big families that demand food, clothes and a home either here or abroad, whether or not the ship is in port. This establishment costs as much while the master mariner is on the bosom of old Neptune as it does when he is playing dry cob at home for a short period. His going or coming adds or deducts little from the general cost.

There are few pursers on the Atlantic who command a higher monthly salary than $10. They must have years of experience, a host of friends and be "top sawyers," as they say at sea, to command even this figure. Unlike the stewards, and, in the majority of cases, the ships' surgeons, the purser is seldom made the recipient of a generous tip. Nobody seems able to explain why it is so, unless it be that the purser, handling all the money of the voyage, which includes extra passage money, the receipts from the smoker made through the chief steward, the wine bills from the tables, all amounting to a pretty large figure, is recognized as the financial end of the floating hotel and so treated accordingly.

The smoker and its many attachments are luxuries which the captain is not permitted to enjoy, or if permitted rarely indulges in. Any skipper who would make himself a jolly good fellow in the smoker would lose the confidence of those under his care as fast as a trout taking a May fly. Not that his appearance there would make him any less the sailor, but passengers for some reason or another seem to believe that the only place for the master of their ship is on the bridge or in the chartroom. And if they can picture him on this bridge in oilskins and so'wester with the wind and sleet and ice blustering around him so much the better to the perfection of their idea of the practical and capable mariner.

The poorest paid man in an official capacity on a great liner is probably the surgeon. Some passengers have the opinion that as the company pays the ship's doctor those using him on a trip are not supposed to give financial recognition to his attention. It is true that none is obliged to, but he should. The demand of a doctor at sea is in no wise different from that demand on land. The steamship companies give a passenger board, lodging and transportation at a cost that could not be equaled on any railroad of the earth, when distance, accommodation and attention are considered. The luxury of a doctor, while generally forced, is at the same time an auxiliary of sea travel for which the company receives nothing, and which, when free medicines are included, as they invariably are, costs quite a good deal. Experienced ocean travelers seldom forget the surgeon when necessity makes them call for his attention during a trip. But these experienced tourists are few and far between.—New York Mail and Express.

The Forum of Trajan.

A few years ago the forum of Trajan was used as a depositing place for cats which were not wanted, but as it does not present the same facilities of retreat and hiding as the forum of Augustus street boys and others took every opportunity of stoning the unfortunate animals. Finally the authorities, after many complaints, refused to allow any more cats to be thrown there, and in order to get rid of those already living in the forum presented one to each sentry box on the walls of the city. They all, however, speedily disappeared from their new homes, some returning to the foot of Trajan's column, where they were either killed by the street boys or transferred to the forum of Augustus. While others, it was whispered, were sold by the sentries for a few centimes to enterprising young medical students in search of subjects for dissection.

FREE TRIAL TO ANY HONEST MAN

The Foremost Medical Company in the World in the Cure of Weak Men Makes this Offer
HAPPY MARRIAGE, HEALTH, ENERGY AND LONG LIFE.

In all the world today—in all the history of the world—no doctor or institution has treated and restored so many men as has the famed ERIE MEDICAL CO. of Buffalo, N. Y. This is due to the fact that the company controls some inventions and discoveries which have no equal in the whole realm of medical science. So much deception has been practiced in advertising that this grand old company now makes this startling offer:
It will send their costly and magically effective appliance and a whole month's course of restorative remedies, postpaid on trial, without expense, to any honest and reliable man.
Not a dollar need be advanced—not a penny paid—till results are known to and acknowledged by the patient.
The Erie Medical Company's appliance and remedies have been talked about and written about all over the world, and every man has heard of them. They restore or create strength, vigor, healthy tissue and new life.
They repair drains on the system that sap the energy. They cure nervousness, despondency, and all the effects of evil habits, excesses, over-work, etc.
They give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body. Failure is impossible and age is no barrier.
This "Trial without Expense" offer is naturally limited by the company to a short time, and application must be made soon.
Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, BUFFALO, N. Y., and give your express address as well as your post-office. Refer to seeing the account of their offer in this paper.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. R. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R., to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and return to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given to the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

AMENDMENTS TO THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

The Senate Finance Committee has made many amendments to the House War Revenue bill which will be very unpalatable to the gold men. Senators Jones of Nevada and Wolcott of Colorado join the Silver Democrats in making the amendments. The seigniorage on the silver in the treasury, which amounts to $42,000,000, is to be coined, and provision is made for the issuance of greenbacks to the amount of $150,000,000, which are to be redeemable upon the same terms as the greenbacks now in circulation. A tax is to be imposed upon the earnings of railroads, steamboats, express, telegraph, insurance, electric light and power companies, and sugar and oil refineries. Legacies exceeding $50,000 are to be taxed, as are also banking institutions.

The minority, or gold men, of the Senate Finance Committee propose to reinstate the bond provision, but reduce the amount of bonds from $500,000,000, as provided for by the House bill, to $300,000,000.

The Senate bill as amended will benefit the whole country, as it will immediately increase the circulating medium over $100,000,000 and make times decidedly better, while a bond issue will only increase the stringency as it will not add one dollar to the volume of money now in existence.

CURIOSITIES OF BOMBARDING.

At Plevna it took a Russian battery a whole day's firing for each Turk killed. At Gibraltar, in 1781, 250,000 shot and shell were thrown, and the total killed and wounded was only 1,340. It took 200 shots to hit one man according to the figures of the Franco-German war. Even more surprising—into Verdun 33,000 shells were thrown, and only seven persons were killed. Phalzburg had a similar number of fatalities for the 6,000 shells received there. Eight deaths in Bitche were caused by 25,000 shells, or 3,000 for each man killed. In Miezieres 300 were killed, but it required 193,000 shells to do the job. Then there was Thionville, into which 30,000 shells were thrown, with the result that two were killed, and finally Longwy, which received during the siege 30,000 shells without losing a single man. At Murtresborough it took 27 cannon shot and 170 rifle bullets to hit one man, while one of the maxims of war since the campaign of 1870 is that it takes a ton of iron to kill a man.—London Correspondence N. Y. Sun.

WAR NEWS.

Lloyd's agent at Manila cables London from Hong Kong, that order at the Philippines is strictly maintained. The cable is on board an American vessel.

The presence of the Spanish fleet in West Indian waters has materially changed the plans of the War Department. The assembling of 20,087 volunteers has been ordered at Chicamauga.

It was learned that the Spanish fleet was sighted off the coast of Martinique on Wednesday and again Thursday morning. Indications were that a full supply of coal was being taken.

A London dispatch from Havana reports an engagement between the Spanish and insurgents in the interior of the island and 1900 of the former are reported killed.

The flying squadron received orders to go to sea and at 3:40 in the afternoon weighed anchor and moved out to sea, the flagship Brooklyn leading.

Late dispatches confirm the report that the Spanish fleet is at Porto de France, Island of Martinique.

The second Spanish fleet now at Cadiz is expected to sail for the Philippines and will escort a military expedition now being organized to recapture the islands. Submarine mines have been laid in the entrance to the harbor of Cadiz as a precautionary measure against an attack from the Americans.

Over 3,000 men are already concentrated at the Presidio awaiting the hour for departure to Manila. The Charleston will not be ready to sail before Monday.

Secretary Long of the Navy received positive information of the arrival of the Spanish fleet off the Windward Islands near Martinique. The latter place is about 600 miles southward from Porto Rico. This fleet comprises the Cape Verde squadron.

An official cable to London from St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, says that San Juan surrendered at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The Iowa fired the first shot upon the signal from Sampson's flagship "Remember the Maine," "Fighting Bob" Evans of the Iowa giving the order. The Indiana followed with the second shot and the guns on Morro Castle were soon silenced, then the United States vessels turned their attention to the shore batteries. Every shot told and the defenses of San Juan were soon reduced. Admiral Sampson had previously given notice to the non-combatants and women and children that he would commence the bombardment and for them to get out of harm's way. During the bombardment Sampson signalled to the squadron, "Let us have San Juan by sunset." Sampson did not take the city, but silenced the forts and has the city at his mercy. It has been deserted by the merchants, non-combatants, women and children, the refugees fleeing to the interior followed by the volunteers and troops who became panic stricken. Sampson did not lose a man nor did he have a ship injured.

At Madrid the excitement is intense and the news that Sampson had bombarded and reduced the defenses at Porto Rico created the greatest anxiety. It was the object of the Cape Verde fleet to reach Martinique and coal and then sail for a secret destination, but the fall of San Juan has created grave apprehension at Madrid for the Spanish squadron. The official announcement, however, to the public is that the American fleet attacked San Juan but was "gloriously beaten back."

WEATHER BULLETIN

(Copyright, 1898, by W. T. Foster.)

St. JOSEPH, Mo., May 14.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from May 21st to 23th.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about May 26th, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 27th, great central valleys 28th to 30th Eastern States 31st.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 26th, great central valleys 28th, Eastern States 30th.

Cool wave will cross the West of Rockies country 28th, great central valleys 31st, Eastern States June 2d.

Temperature of the week ending at 8 A. M. May 30th will average above normal in Northern States East of the Rockies and below in the Pacific States and Southern States East of the Rockies. For the same period rainfall will be deficient near the Missouri and lower Mississippi river and thence eastward. Farther West rainfall will be from about to above normal.

During the last week in May severe storms may be expected in Northern States and local heavy showers will occur in a few places.

The coolest week of the month, East of the Rockies, was predicted to occur near the date of this bulletin and the country was also warned that soon after this time apprehensions of serious drought would arise.

The weather bureau official paper edited by Prof. Cleveland Abbe has begun a war on newspapers that criticize that institution and on all meteorologists who make long range forecasts.

Prof. Abbe is particularly severe on those who publish their forecasts in almanacs. My forecasts are not published in almanacs but as he also vigorously attacks the idea of moon influences on the weather I will definitely state the basis of my work.

The sun, earth, moon and planets are magnets, each having a complete internal system of magnetism. The sun, moon and planets affect the earth's magnetic system and changes in that system are the causes of changes in our weather. This I call Planetary or Magneto-Meteorology.

The young people of Cedarville, Surprise Valley, have organized a cycling club. Twenty-six members signed the roll at the first meeting. The Reno Wheelmen may be invited to a relay by our country cousins before the season is over.

If no late frosts occur, which is now hardly probable, the fruit crop in Surprise Valley will be pretty heavy. By the way, that brings to mind the fact that a fruit drier would be of value to the valley.—Record.

A heavy gold ring with initial was found last evening. Owner can recover same by proving property and paying for this notice. m18t8

B. F. Leete,

Lafayette in Maine.
"It was during the administration of Governor Almon K. Parris," says the Kennebec (Me.) Journal, "that General Lafayette made his memorable tour of the United States and paid his visit to Maine. It was on a Sunday that the general concluded that visit and proposed leaving the state from Portland. Governor Parris remonstrated with him for taking his departure on that day and said, 'If you will postpone your trip until Monday, I will myself escort you to the state line with all the military honors.' But Lafayette, accustomed to the continental Sabbath, insisted on not altering his plans and left Maine on Sunday, while the Sabbath honoring governor of a God-fearing state attended his church service as was his habit."

Hudson Bay Company Receipts.
"Received, per Lapwing, Jane Goody, as per invoice, in good condition; and 'Received, per Osprey, Mathilde Timbina. - Returned, per Lapwing, as not being in accordance with description contained in invoice.' Thus read two receipts recently found among the archives of the Hudson Bay company.—Kansas City Journal.

Left Teeth Used Most.

The natural habit of human beings appears to be the use of the teeth on the left side of the mouth for masticating the food. During a lengthened period of observation only one person out of 18 was found who used both sides of his mouth for chewing and masticating his food.

Ed Stanley arrived from San Francisco yesterday and at once began training for the fifty-mile relay race between the Reno Wheelmen's team and the San Francisco Olympics.

The Riverside hotel is recognized as the leading hotel between Sacramento and Ogden. It is first-class in every appointment and rates are reasonable. Free bus to and from every train.

H. Biter's jobbing trade is one of his special features. Small orders are put up carefully for shipment or town delivery. His goods are A1, and his purchasers may depend upon the best of treatment.

There is no better place in the country to get a good substantial meal than the Washoe Lunch Counter. Short orders and lunches are a specialty and the rates are very reasonable. Only a half-block from the depot.

The Monarch is constantly receiving carloads of the celebrated Anheuser Busch beer, the increasing demand necessitating it. It is served in old fashioned stone mugs at five cents or orders will be filled in quantities to suit.

The fifty-mile relay race on the 22nd of this month between the Olympics of San Francisco and the Reno Wheelmen will be one of the greatest events of the kind ever held on the coast. Everyone should arrange to take it in.

A number of social events were features last evening. The Virginia High School Seniors were entertained, the Nevada Club gave its usual Friday evening social, the History Club met, the Friday evening hop took place at the University.

The entrance to the Wheelmen's Club rooms is a novelty in the decorator's art. The peculiar mottled appearance of the doors is quite striking and by many judges would be considered handsome. The principal object however is to have the entrance attractive and this has been attained. The Porteous Decorative company were the artists.

A. Nelson is constantly replenishing his stock. Special or clearance sales are not his method. His prices are always at the closest margin on his stock of hats, caps, underwear in various grades, overalls, jumpers, gloves and a general assortment of men's goods. Also a complete line of smoker's articles including a line of cigars and tobaccos, equal to many wholesale houses. In fact he does a general jobbing business in this line and sells to the trade. In the line of novelties pocket cutlery and many handy and necessary articles, Nelson is hard to beat. Free employment office at store Virginia street, Reno.

DEWEY'S GREAT PRIZE.

Greatest Conquest Ever Effected by One Battle.

A special to the Times-Herald from Washington says: The representatives of the foreign governments are taking an intense interest in the conflict between the United States and Spain. They are specially concerned at the present time in the fate of the Philippines and discussing the possibility of interference by the powers. The consensus of opinion seems to be that if the United States should conclude to retain possession of the conquered islands in the Pacific, the European powers will have no cause to interfere. Attention is called to the fact that with the capture of the Philippines the United States can also claim the Mariana, Pelews and Caroline Islands. A foreign diplomat, whose opinion is entitled to consideration, in discussing the situation, says:

"European statesmen are very much gratified to note that the United States appears determined to handle the Philippine question ably and strongly. When the newspapers first asserted that only 10,000 soldiers were to be sent to reinforce Admiral Dewey and make permanent the fruits of his victory, considerable uneasiness was felt. It would be a physical impossibility to police 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 inhabitants of Spain's oceanic colonies with that number of men. Under a good military government it would require 10,000 for administrative purposes alone. The proposition to transport 30,000 soldiers to this conquest is more like a business proposition.

"It may surprise some Americans to know that Dewey's victory carries with it spoils of war probably larger than was ever decided by the issue of one battle. The future value and influence of this conquest is almost incalculable. Studying the situation as it exists, we must assume that with the fall of the Philippines, the United States will claim as their due, all the natural results of such a capture. By this one victory the United States acquired at least the right of disposal of the destiny of more than nine millions of people.

"Together with the Philippines go the Mariana Islands and the Pelews and the Carolines. The Philippines have an area of 114,360 square miles; the Mariana and Ladrone Islands have 440 square miles, and the Pelews or Carolines have 1,450. Stretching eastward from the Philippines, these groups extend about 45 degrees of latitude. A little farther to the north and east are the Hawaiian Islands. Should the United States then build one of the Isthmian canals, she will not only control the ocean passage, but in the most strategic portion of the Pacific Ocean she can, as it were, cross that vast expanse of ocean upon her own stepping stones."

ORDERED TO CHEYENNE.

The Nevada Boys to go East to Join Their Regiment.

Colonel Torrey of the Second United States Volunteer Cavalry has notified Captain Cox that his Troop must be at Cheyenne, Wyoming, which is the headquarters of the regiment, next Tuesday evening. As now arranged the Troop will leave Carson this evening on the regular train or possibly earlier in the day if they go on a special train.

The Troop consists of Captain Cox, First Lieutenant Gracey, Second Lieutenant Henderson and 81 men. Many of them were members of the State Militia and all are physically sound and capable of enduring the ordinary hardships of a soldier according to the examining surgeons. Thirty-two men who have been enrolled and examined as to their physical qualifications will be left at Carson and will be attached to the First Troop of Nevada Volunteer Cavalry, which will be recruited as soon as possible to the maximum number authorized by the War Department. It is fortunate that provision has been made for another troop of cavalry as the men who will be left at Carson after a week's drilling, physical examination, etc., would be grievously disappointed if not given opportunity to go to the front.

First Troop Nevada U. S. Cavalry.

Through the efforts of Congressman Newlands the War Department has assigned to Nevada an independent cavalry troop to be designated "The First Troop, Nevada United States Volunteer Cavalry." This is an addition to the troop already organized, which will constitute a part of Colonel Torrey's Second United States Volunteer Cavalry. This is timely and meets the approval of young men who offered to enroll their names for service with the troop now organized, but could not do so because the number was limited. As it is, only 84 men, including three commissioned officers, are wanted in the troop for Colonel Torrey's regiment, and thirty-two men, who have been examined by the surgeons and pronounced physically sound, will be left for the new troop, which will require at least fifty more men to make its full complement.

Many applications from young men, who are eager to enlist and go to the front, have been received by the Governor from Eureka, White Pine and Lincoln counties and several fine looking fellows, who applied in person at the recruiting office, had to be refused because of the limited number required. These will probably have opportunity to join if the new troop is organized.

The war fever is widespread, not only throughout the State, but all over the Union, and Uncle Sam could easily get a million men to uphold his cause against the myrmidons of Spain.

COMSTOCK VISITORS.

The Seniors of the Virginia High School Pay a Return Visit to the Reno High School Seniors.

The Senior Class of the Virginia High School arrived here yesterday morning in two four-in-hands, their object being to return the visit of the Reno High School Senior Class paid the Comstock a few weeks ago. Upon their arrival here the Reno Seniors received them and arrangements were made for the days program. The High School, including the various departments was visited, also the State University, the Hospital for Mental Diseases and other points of interest.

In the evening a reception and dance was given in honor of the visitors, concluding with a sumptuous banquet, the merry party returning home in the wee hours of this morning greatly pleased with their visit and the royal entertainment afforded by Reno's Senior class.

The following are the names of the teachers and pupils comprising the party:

Prof. M. R. Averill, Miss M. Long, Bessie Ambur, Willis Brown, Bert Ballard, John Cameron, Maggie Cameron, Leona Dunn, Kate Flannagan, Katie Gracey, Clara French, Martha Hinch, Mollie Hinch, Sadie Hatherell, Harry Harper, Ruth Lane, May Low, Katie Lentz, Ethel McDewitt, Mina Phillips, Frank Pratt, Wesley Saxsmith, Maude Treglown, Mabel Tait.

UNCLE SAM'S RESOURCES.

No Need of Increasing Taxation or Issuing Bonds to Prosecute the War.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—The revenue bill which recently passed the lower house of Congress proposes to raise the money necessary to prosecute the war by increasing taxation and by issuing interest-bearing bonds.

Under present and prospective conditions the issuance of interest-bearing bonds is entirely unnecessary and should not be tolerated. With a treasury balance of $200,000,000 and with $50,000,000 of silver available for monetary use and with the power to issue full legal tenders in sufficient volume to carry on a war of several years duration, the issuance of interest-bearing bonds would be an act of robbery on present and future generations, who would be mortgaged and taxed to pay both principle and interest.

SIGNAL CORPS FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Nevada to be Represented by a Company.

Senator Stewart telegraphs Governor Sadler that General Greeley, Chief of the Signal Service, informs him that a signal service force will be immediately organized to go to the Philippine Islands to serve with the army and navy. Nevada will be entitled to ten men and two officers and General Greeley requested him to ascertain if Nevada can furnish the men.

The Governor telegraphed that there is a signal corps of skilled men at Reno that will enter the service. Lieutenant Caffrey of the signal corps attached to the National Guard here was informed by the Governor of Greeley's request; and he will go to Carson to see about making arrangements to enter the service of the United States.

Discovered by Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and two bottles, has absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes H. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby N. C. Trial bottles free S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store Regular size 50c and $1.00 Every bottle guaranteed.

Company C, Attention.

All members are hereby requested to appear at the armory this evening at 7:30, sharp, in full uniform, for the purpose of meeting the cavalry from Carson. By order,

FRANK CAMPBELL, Lieutenant.

University Cadets, Attention.

The University Battalion will assemble on the campus at 7 o'clock, sharp, this evening, for the purpose of meeting the Nevada volunteers. By order,

F. M. LINSCOTT, Commandant.

MILITARY OFFICERS.

They Must be Subjected to a Physical Examination.

The War Department has authorized the statement that no orders have been issued to mustering officers directing that they accept all company and regimental officers of volunteer troops appointed by Governors of States, regardless of physical disabilities. In a few cases, where Governors were particularly anxious to commission certain officers who ordinarily would be rejected on the ground of physical disability, the mustering officers have been instructed to accept the services of the officers; but in each case a special dispensation has been required and a special notation of the disability has been made for the benefit of the government. Hereafter it will be difficult for the officers so accepted to secure a pension, as they will have to show clearly that the disability for which the pension may be asked was due to their service in the present war.

War Department officials are very much averse to the acceptance of any men or officers who are not perfectly sound physically and the exceptions that have been made were in the face of protests of the department.

All the officers of the Nevada troop were selected from the enlisted men who were examined by competent physicians and pronounced physically sound. They run no risk, therefore, of being rejected, when they reach headquarters, for physical disabilities.

He'd Better Trade Her Off.

There is a certain Yorkshire man who has won considerable fame and some wealth as an expert handler of horses. He is also the possessor of a pleasant home, a charming wife and a bright 3-year-old boy.

The latter is the delight of his father's heart, and the little fellow not only knows lots of horse talk, but takes a keen delight in a mild attempt at holding the reins over a fast gait.

The wee horseman has picked up the habit of calling his parents by their first names, and the way in which he utters them is decidedly cunning.

One day not long ago his father came home in a hurry and found the luncheon wasn't ready.

"What do you think of that, my small man?" he cried laughingly as he tossed the 3-year-old in the air. "Here's papa come home in a terrible hurry and no luncheon ready. What ought we to do with such a terrible mamma?"

The little fellow's eyes sparkled.

"Trade her off, Harry; trade her off!" he shouted. — Pearson's Weekly.

The Music That He Found on a Necktie.
"The other day," said a young bac-clor, "I received as a gift a necktie marked across one end of the white satin
lining of which I found a bar of music.
I don't read music myself, but I took this to somebody that does, and what do you think it was? 'Bless be the tie

silly, eh?"--New York Sun.

The Triumph of Danny.
Several years before the discovery of
oil at Pithole an Irishman named Dan Carthy and his son Dan came to this country from the Emerald Isle. Dan
was a young man of 20, but his father
looked upon him as a mere boy and
seemed to take delight in ridiculing
him before people.

"Yes, Dan is a good b'y," he would
say sarcastically, "but, Danny, me b'y,
yez'll never set the river on fire."
This was his stock witticism, and it
annoyed Dan very much, but he did his
best and soon surprised the old gentleman by securing a lucrative job.

"Yes, Danny has a job all right," he
said. "It's $1.50 a day, but the b'y'll
never set the river on fire. Not he."
When oil was found at Pithole, Dan
hurried to the scene and was soon earning unusually large wages as a teamster. All the petroleum was drawn in barrels, and teams were in great demand. He saved his money, bought an acre of land and soon had a well drilled
that was producing 100 barrels of oil
per day at $10 per barrel. The elder McCarthy joined him, saw the well, received a liberal gift of money, and then
shook his head ominously.

"This is a good thing, Danny," he
croaked; "ye're doin' well, but mark me
worruds, yez'll never set the river on
fire, me b'y."

A few days later a flood wrecked one
of Dan's small wooden tanks, the oil
ran down the river, and there was great excitement. As Dan and his father stood
on the bank watching the oil float away
Dan drew a match and lighted it.

"Father," he said coolly, "the next
time yez say O'll never set the river on fire please remember that O'l had a chance yanst, and--and didn't do ut,
bedad!"

Then he blew out the match.--Har-

Can't Tell Their Husbands Apart.
Jim Hisey, aged 48, is a prosperous grain dealer in Yale. He has a wife, two sons and a daughter. Will Hisey,
aged 48, his brother, lives at Sparta.
He is also married. The two men are twins, and all through life have been the living duplicates of each other. So near alike are they even their wives cannot tell them apart. They dress alike, their voices are alike and their hair and mustaches have the same color and curls. When boys, they had to be tagged so that their parents and teachers would know the difference. When Jim gets a crick in the back, Will is liable to have the same complaint, and when Will gets the rheumatism Jim also gets it precisely in the same place.
They were formerly both engaged in the milling business and served an apprenticeship under the same man. They were born in western Ontario, their parents being Jacob and Betsy Hisey.
Jim's wife has only one way in which she can tell her husband from his brother.
He has a slight curve in one of his fingers, which has to be held up in full view. Then he must give a password before he is received into full fellowship of the home circle. Many amusing instances of mistaken identity are told of the two. Detroit Tribune.

Buying "Gums" in America.
Englishmen and Americans frequently differ greatly in the names they have
for the same object. A well known artist came to an American city from London, and after becoming settled went out to buy some artists' materials. He went to a stationery store, and after purchasing several things said:
"By the way, do you keep gums?"
The saleswoman smiled.
"No, indeed," said she, "but I think
you can get them next door."
The artist thought it was peculiar
that he could not get what he wanted
at a stationer's, but thought perhaps it
was American. So he went next door
and found it was a shoe store.
"A funny place to keep gums," quoth
he, but in he walked and asked for
gums.
"What size do you wear?" said the
woman who met him.
That floored him.
"What on earth has that got to do
with it?" thought he, but he discovered
that he wore seven.
Soon the woman appeared, carrying a
pair of overshoes.
"Will these suit you?" said she to
the surprised Englishman.
"I don't want those. I want gums,
something to stick with. It comes in a bottle."
"Oh, you mean mucilage," said the girl radiantly. "You can get that at any stationer's."--St. Louis Star.

The English Patent Office Library.
If the poor inventor is not entirely
ignorant of patent procedure, he knows
that the patent office makes no search to test the validity of his invention, and
so he comes to undertake it himself. If he finds that his invention appears in
no previous patent, he is confirmed in
his belief that he will at last see his dreams realized and that he will in a short time possess great wealth. If, on the other hand, he finds his ideas have
been anticipated, his dreams of fortune
fade away like mist before a morning
sun, and life, as he has known it for so
many weary years--hard, toilsome, pit-iless to those who, like himself, lack
money--lies painfully clear before his
view.

Buying "Gums" in America.
Englishmen and Americans frequently differ greatly in the names they have
for the same object. A well known artist came to an American city from London, and after becoming settled went
out to buy some artists' materials. He went to a stationery store, and after
purchasing several things said:
"By the way, do you keep gums?"
The saleswoman smiled.
"No, indeed," said she, "but I think
you can get them next door."
The artist thought it was peculiar
that he could not get what he wanted
at a stationer's, but thought perhaps it
was American. So he went next door
and found it was a shoe store.
"A funny place to keep gums," quoth
he, but in he walked and asked for
gums.
"What size do you wear?" said the
woman who met him.
That floored him.
"What on earth has that got to do
with it?" thought he, but he discovered
that he wore seven.
Soon the woman appeared, carrying a
pair of overshoes.
"Will these suit you?" said she to
the surprised Englishman.
"I don't want those. I want gums,
something to stick with. It comes in a
bottle."
"Oh, you mean mucilage," said the
girl radiantly. "You can get that at
any stationer's."--St. Louis Star.

The English Patent Office Library.
If the poor inventor is not entirely
ignorant of patent procedure, he knows
that the patent office makes no search to
test the validity of his invention, and
so he comes to undertake it himself. If
he finds that his invention appears in
no previous patent, he is confirmed in
his belief that he will at last see his
dreams realized and that he will in a short time possess great wealth. If, on the other hand, he finds his ideas have
been anticipated, his dreams of fortune
fade away like mist before a morning
sun, and life, as he has known it for so
many weary years--hard, toilsome, pit-
iless to those who, like himself, lack
money--lies painfully clear before his
view.

A short three hours--or even less-- spent in this library may plunge the man who entered it hopeful and bright into deepest despair, and it is certain that within its walls many silent tragedies
of this kind are enacted week by week and noticed by only few if any of those around. But inventors are a hopeful race, and though some who suffer
such a disappointment of all their hopes may never recover from it there is no doubt many will recommence their experiments and elaborate other inventions from which they expect the same, or even greater, realities of wealth and happiness. Chambers' Journal.

The Triumph of Danny.
Several years before the discovery of
oil at Pithole an Irishman named Dan Carthy and his son Dan came to this country from the Emerald Isle. Dan
was a young man of 20, but his father
looked upon him as a mere boy and
seemed to take delight in ridiculing
him before people.

"Yes, Dan is a good b'y," he would
say sarcastically, "but, Danny, me b'y,
yez'll never set the river on fire."
This was his stock witticism, and it
annoyed Dan very much, but he did his
best and soon surprised the old gentle-
man by securing a lucrative job.

"Yes, Danny has a job all right," he
said. "It's $1.50 a day, but the b'y'll
never set the river on fire. Not he."
When oil was found at Pithole, Dan
hurried to the scene and was soon earn-
ing unusually large wages as a teamster. All the petroleum was drawn in
barrels, and teams were in great demand. He saved his money, bought an acre of land and soon had a well drilled
that was producing 100 barrels of oil
per day at $10 per barrel. The elder
McCarthy joined him, saw the well, received a liberal gift of money, and then
shook his head ominously.

"This is a good thing, Danny," he
croaked; "ye're doin' well, but mark me
worruds, yez'll never set the river on
fire, me b'y."

A few days later a flood wrecked one
of Dan's small wooden tanks, the oil
ran down the river, and there was great
excitement. As Dan and his father stood
on the bank watching the oil float away
Dan drew a match and lighted it.

"Father," he said coolly, "the next
time yez say O'll never set the river on
fire please remember that O'l had a
chance yanst, and--and didn't do ut,
bedad!"

Then he blew out the match.--Har-
